

Equine Reproduction Practitioner's Day

"Assisted reproductive technologies in horses: from the research to the daily practice"

Pisa, Sunday July 3rd, 2022 (from 9.00 am to 5.45 pm)

PROGRAM

Management of the recipient to maximise the outcome of on an ET program

Tom Stout - Utrecht University, Netherlands

Management and AI of the donors to maximise the outcome of on an ET program

Miguel Blanco - Gestüt Lewitz, Neustadt-Glewe, Germany

Foals production from old, subfertile mares

Elaine Carnevale - Colorado State University, USA

Embryo Transfer: is the Wilsher technique preferable to the conventional ET?

Anthony Claes - Utrecht University, Netherlands

Frozen and cooled embryos: how to do and pregnancy rates

Katrin Hinrichs - Texas A&M University, USA

Production of foals of the desired gender: preimplantation sex diagnosis versus insemination of the donors with sex sorted spermatozoa

Carolina Herrera - University of Zurich, Switzerland

The common mistakes to avoid at the beginning

Fernando Riera - Dona Pilar Equine Biotechnology, Lincoln, Argentina

Update on the in vitro production of horse embryos

Cesare Galli - AVANTEA, Cremona, Italy

Effect of the recipient selection on the development and sports career of the offspring

Pascale Chavatte-Palmer - INRA, Paris, France